Hi all -

Attached is a redacted version of the allegation we discussed. It's not truly redacted as the identity of staff could likely be ascertained from the information provided. I redacted all staff names (not just those of the submitters) but left intact manager names and the names included in the "key staff" section. I also anonymized gender specific details. I did not include the attachments.

I discussed this with the submitters and they were comfortable with me sharing this with you with the understanding that confidentiality would be maintained to the extent possible by law.

Please just let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks –
Belinda
